We make good use of e-Books!

There are another useful things to get information in our library. That's e-Book!

e-Book is what we call an electronic resource. Resources are viewed on your PC, tablet and smartphone without any loan procedure at the library counter. (<http://lib.shibaura-it.ac.jp/research#tab5>)

The boom in e-Books is happening now!

Let's read a popular foreign book,
"Encyclopedia of mathematical physics".
→ Elsevier e-Book

You can study TOEFL by using EBSCO Host eBook Collection.

Great reader Collection!
Let's study English by using Infobase eBook Collections

We have interviewed students who makes good use of eBooks.

I am using LE CORBUSIER PLANS. With using eBook services, I can find Le Corbusier's projects easily! I have complete access to the summary and the page is linked to the drawing, too. It's very useful! It broadens my world of Le Corbusier.
→ Le Corbusier Plans Online

I tried to borrow "Capital of the Twenty-First century" by Thomas Piketty, but all his books were rented out. That means it's so popular! However, I can have quick access to eBook to read his book. Since I needed to read the book for my job-hunting, eBook service helped me a lot.
→ Maruzen eBook Library

My favorite is English translation of Japanese literature. I am reading "1Q84" written by Haruki Murakami now. It improve my English. I recommend international students use this service. You are conveniently used it by your tablet!
→ EBSCO Host eBook Collection

We are using eBook services, too!

05 Global Activities in the Library

We support Japanese learner!

Recently we receive many questions from International students such as "Do you have a book about studying Japanese?", "Is there any Japanese novels printed with Hiragana?" To meet their demands, we increase materials for studying Japanese in our library. We are going to increase the number of extensive book, too.

Also, we release English version of our library newspaper "Lib Café" on our HP. It might be interesting to feel the difference between the two.
